WORLD-CLASS BRITISH DOG TRAINERS IMMIGRATE TO AMERICA

STATESVILLE, NC – Seventeen years after they first applied for a visa, world-class trainers Lynne and Pete Stephens have joined Karen and Kevin Mielke in the United States to complete the British and American training team of DogLogic. Celebrate their arrival and a great new place to train your dog at DogLogic's Grand Opening Saturday, October 29th from 1:00-6:00 p.m. at 376 Sunflower Rd, Statesville, NC 28625.

Watch the exciting sport of agility in action, meet world-renowned trainers and tour their new training facilities. There will be lots of great food, games, prizes, a free agility show 'n go, a Halloween costume contest and plenty of photo opportunities. It's free for all dogs and people.

As members of Great Britain's Agility World Championship Team, Lynne and Pete Stephens bring expert knowledge of a sport that began in England, but is now one of the fastest growing dog sports in America – Dog Agility. In this stirring display of teamwork, handlers direct their dogs through a timed obstacle course, which includes jumps, tunnels, a see-saw, weave poles and more.

DogLogic has set itself apart from any other training facility in the area by offering expert knowledge, outstanding facilities and a sincere dedication to each student. DogLogic classes and seminars cover several areas such as agility, foundation puppy skills, manners and basic pet obedience.

DOGLOGIC || CANINE EDUCATION

Head trainer, Lynne Stephens understands the importance of believing in yourself and your dog as she defied the odds to make the world team two years in a row with Quiz, her Cavalier King Charles Spaniel – a breed known more as a lap dog than an agility competitor. “I encourage students to aim high, reach for the stars and, most importantly, enjoy the journey,” says Lynne.

All the trainers at DogLogic believe training should be fun for dogs and people and when you see dogs and their owners flying around the agility course it’s incredibly obvious just how much fun everyone is having. Come see for yourself. Find out more at www.doglogictraining.com.
